

Burlington, VT – peerVue, LLC was as hot as the Florida sun at the annual AMICAS National Client Conference (ANCC), held in the Hilton at the Walt Disney World Resort, April 23-24, 2007. peerVue’s recent addition of Erik Heath as Chief Technology Officer, and unveiling of their Magnetic Integration technology for qiVue™, has generated much talk of them as a leader in the Quality Improvement software industry.

“Though we’re not a large company, peerVue’s niche solutions admirably fill the gaps in the current radiology software,” said Aaron McCaslin, Engagement Manager. “We’re very tightly integrated with AMICAS, so the ANCC was a great opportunity for us to get feedback from the people who are already using the product, as well as discuss solutions for prospective clients.”

Currently, six leading organizations are partnered with peerVue in the qiVue™ beta program, running from February to June 2007: Montefiore Medical Center (GE PACS), Children’s National Medical Center (FUJI PACS), Rush North Shore Medical Center (AMICAS PACS), Delnor Community Hospital (AMICAS PACS), Albemarle Hospital (AMICAS PACS) and Mt. Nittany Medical Center (AMICAS PACS).

“The response has been phenomenal. The product is built on the latest Microsoft ASP.NET web technology, and we’re always working to make it even better,” said Erik Heath, CTO. “peerVue’s commitment to excellence is why customers are impressed and enthusiastic about our product, and why we’re the industry leader for quality improvement and medical teaching files. Our relationship with AMICAS has been invaluable, and we’re already looking forward to the ANCC next year.”
